INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION & HUMAN TRAFFICKING

Response and Preparedness for Students, Faculty, and Staff

1 p.m.-2:30 p.m. | Wednesday, March 3, 2021
https://tinyurl.com/476kk6zr
Kathleen Preble, PhD, MSW, Assistant Professor, MU School of Social Work
Samantha Kollmeyer, Discovery Fellow, MU Department of Psychological Studies

Human trafficking is a widely discussed but little understood phenomenon that occurs in almost every nation in the world. Most people associate trafficking with the sex trade and involving foreign-born women; however, trafficking is known to impact students enrolled and enrolling in higher education. This brownbag seeks to begin a conversation about the intersection of higher education and human trafficking: what we should know, what we should be thinking about, and how we might begin a comprehensive response on our campuses.

For ADA accommodations or more information about the event, contact rsvp@missouri.edu one week prior to event.